

The CSA Mark Means Sanuvox Air Purifiers and Coilcleaners Meet Standards For The USA

Sanuvox and CSA International — Working Together for More than 10 Years

CSA International has tested and certified Sanuvox products since 1996. The CSA C/US Mark on Sanuvox air purifiers and coilcleaners indicates that these products meet applicable U.S. and Canadian national standards, which cover important safety requirements including insulation, grounding, impact resistance, heat dissipation, shock, energy, resistance to rain and snow elements, radiation and personal injury.

Products Bearing CSA Marks Don't Need Any Others

The CSA C/US Mark is your assurance that Sanuvox air purifiers and coilcleaners you purchase comply with applicable U.S. and Canadian standards. That means the CSA C/US Mark is the only mark Sanuvox air purifiers and coilcleaners need.

OSHA Accredited

Sanuvox has selected CSA International as one of their testing and certification agencies because of CSA's proven experience in working with both American and Canadian standards. As an OSHA accredited Nationally Recognized Testing Laboratory (NRTL), CSA International is fully qualified to test electrical, electronic, mechanical, plumbing, lighting, fuel-burning equipment and a wide range of other products sold in America. CSA International operates state-of-the-art laboratories in Cleveland, OH, Los Angeles, CA, Montreal, PQ and Toronto, ON.

CSA International Certification Mark

This CSA mark means that the product is certified to meet U.S. and Canadian standards including applicable UL, ANSI, ASME, ASTM, ASSE, CSA and NSF.
